

Status of OSS in China

China OSS Promotion Union

Chairman

Qiu Shanqin

2011-10-18

Contents

- Government attaches great importance into the development of Open Source Software
- Large Companies joined into Open Source Camp one after another
- China has change from consumers to committers in International Communities
- Achievements
- Future Outlook

Government attaches great importance into the development of Open Source Software

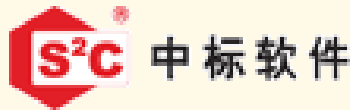

Central government issued a series of policies and measures to promote industrial development, also established relevant industry alliances

Local government gave support to OSS development in different areas respectively

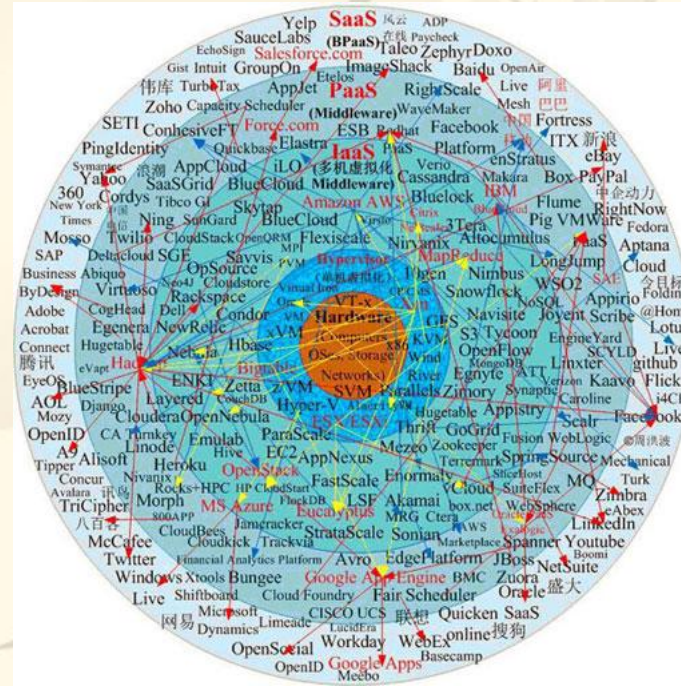

Each Industrial Park Applied OSS in Public Service Platform

The Driving Force of OSS onto national economy and social development is emerging

Large Companies joined into Open Source Camp one after another

Open Source Software has occupied the Central Zone in Information Industry

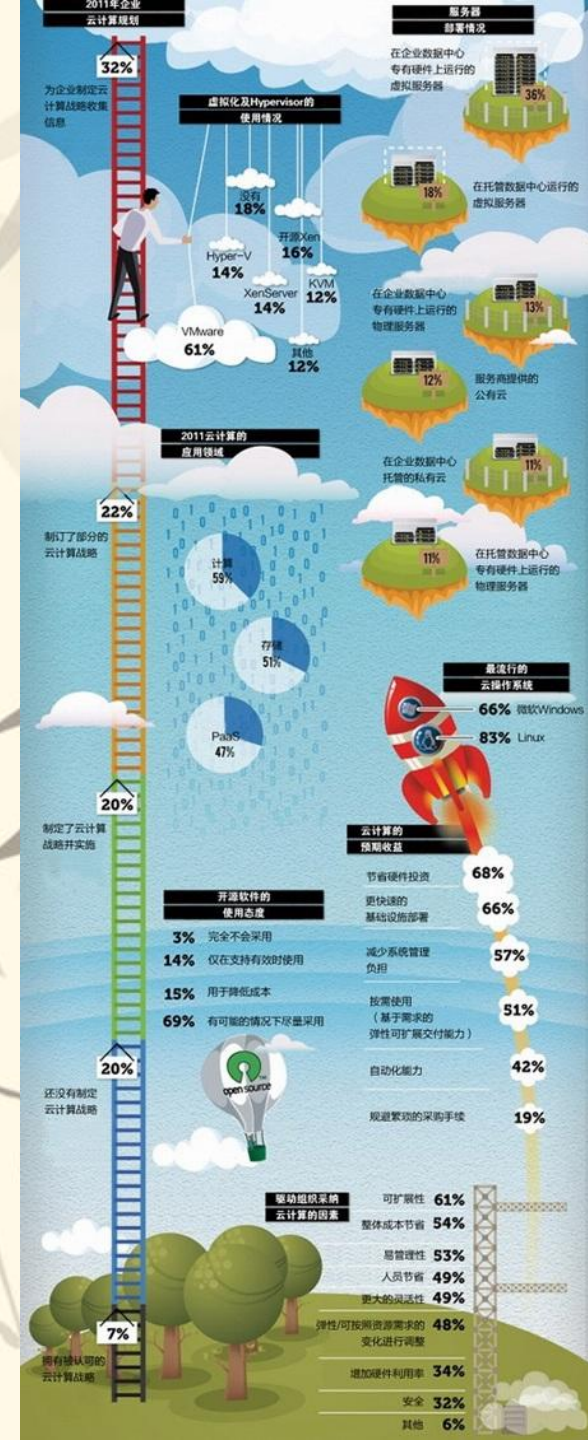

Open source Software has been widely used in Cloud Computing Industry

In all Cloud deployed projects, percentage of non-using OSS is 3% .

Global cloud computing services market revenue in 2010 amounted to 46 billion Pounds, up to 16.6% growth compared to 2009. In 2011, cloud computing sales revenue will reach $ 160 billion

In 2010, China's cloud computing market reached 55.93 billion RMB, annual growth of 29.3%.

67.5% of Enterprise users have recognized cloud services model and began to use cloud computing services

Smart Phones based on OSS in China Market

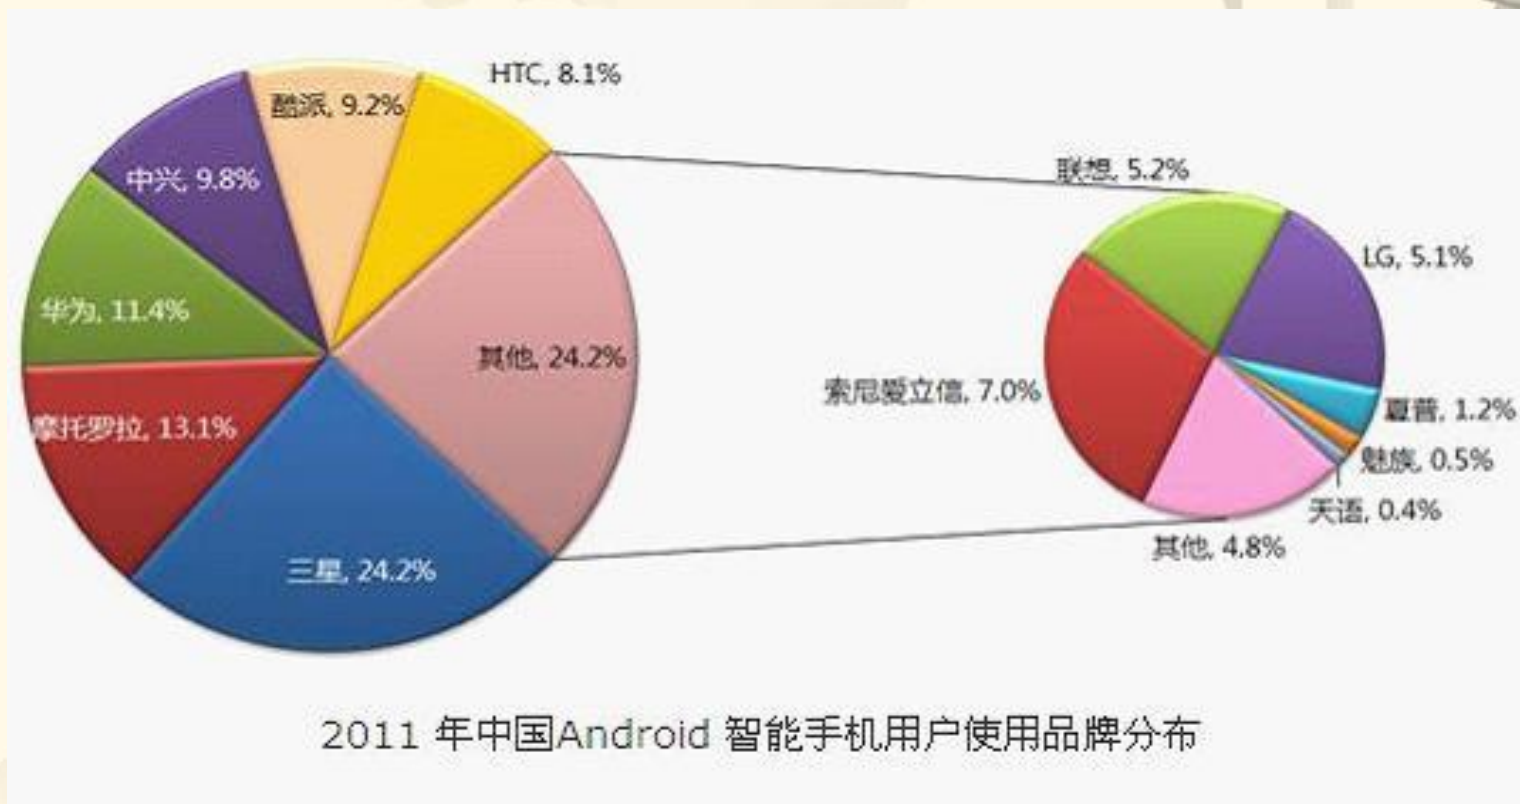

Huawei, ZTE and other Chinese brand smart phones already won international market place: In 2010, ZTE accounted for 1.8% in global handset market.

Lenovo has developed Le Pad tablet PC and Le Phone Smartphone Series based on open-source Android.

China Unicom and Tranzda jointly developed WoPhone Smart Terminal, which recreated WoPhone OS Eco-system.

China Tablet PC market based on OSS

“Eben” hand writing Business PC rapidly emerged in mobile internet industry, accounted for about 11% of China tablet PC market share in the first half of this year, occupying second place behind Apple.

Open Source Software has achieved wide applications in Internet Enterprises

In top 500 Chinese websites, 394 adopted OSS products, accounts for 80%.

Taobao adopted fully open strategy, replace all commercial Software Products, including Oracle, also globally deployed in the world's largest E-business website, significantly reduced the cost

Open Source Software have applied in Key sectors

Operation system of CS2C and Kylin has widely applied in State Grid.

IVI System of Red flag has put into use

Operation system of CS2C and Kylin has configuration in to Microsoft Cloud Computing Environment.

China has change from consumers to committers in International Communities

More than 200 OSS Communities in China

The 6th China Linux Kernel Summit

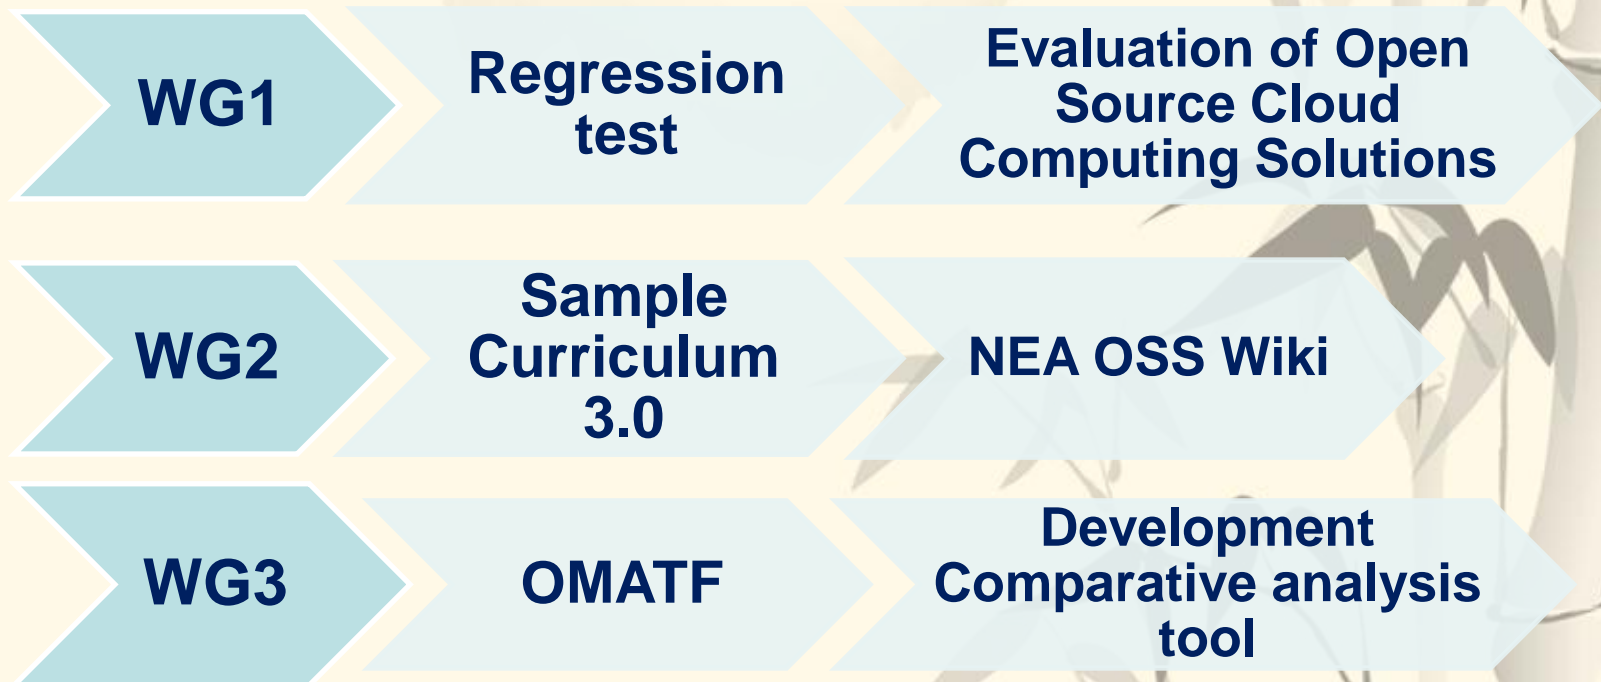

20th Anniversary of Linux;

SFD China

From Linux kernel 2.6.11 to 2.6.37 version, there are 6779 people in 51 countries contributed 210,000 patches, of which 415 Chinese people who contributed more than 10,000 packages, ranked the 4th in contributor list.

Achievements

Three Working Groups of the Forum

Achievements

China OSS Promotion Union

“Open Source Open Source World” Summit Forum

Open forum to promote the interact of important users in various fields with the open source industry, and promote open source industry applications.

Future Outlook

Enhancing the construction of OSS communities

Promote the building up of OSS Eco-system

Actively participate in standardization

Raise awareness of intellectual property competition, strengthen intellectual property management

Thank you!